

A ROSE FOR LIVVY

A STORY ABOUT INTERNET SAFETY FOR TEENS

Livvy is the “new girl” at school, bored and cut off from friends and family. She turns to an internet chat room and that leads to a dangerous encounter.

Livvy is struggling to fit in at a new school when her technology teacher alerts his students to a local incident of a missing girl. The teacher informs his students about the risks of internet chat rooms. Livvy ignores the advice. She begins to exchange messages with a stranger she meets in a chat room and this leads to a dangerous encounter. This engaging and positive story teaches students the essential safety rules to protect themselves on the internet.

$89.00 Distributed by Bureau for At-Risk Youth. America's #1 Source for Guidance and Health Education (please use order form on reverse).

“A Rose for Livvy” is part of the “What’s Next” video series that uses originally scripted dramatic stories to raise issues that teens face: teen pregnancy, HIV, dating violence, family problems, and Internet predators. Each script has gone through an extensive review process including separate youth and health educator focus groups.

Each video in the series includes a leader’s guide that conforms with national and New York State health curriculum standards. For more information , go to www.metrocouncil.us.

The “What’s Next” series is produced by the Metro Council for Teen Potential in association with ImageWordSound. Major Funding provided by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Atlanta, Georgia.

Winner of a 2004 Telly Award!

Item #349996

To order, contact Bureau for At Risk Youth.
www.at-risk.com or 1-800-99-YOUTH

585 Joseph Avenue,
Rochester, NY 14605
phone (585) 325-8123
fax (585) 546-1491
mctp585@hotmail.com